
The number within the state represents that state's ranking for the given period, compared with all other such periods for that state for the 1895-present period of record. If the length of record is 112 years, the number 112 equals the warmest or wettest; the number 1 equals the coolest or driest.